By KENNETH G. CRAWFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—Desolation and suffering seized St. Louis today with 80 known dead, 300 seriously injured, and slightly injured hundreds more, large sections of the city laid waste by high winds and relief workers temporarily unable to cope with the situation.

Appeal has been made for government troops to aid in rehabilitation. Red Cross workers and supplies from out of town were expected to aid in restoring order.

Bodies of 69 dead lay in morgues and hospitals throughout the city. Other bodies were believed buried under debris of the cyclone which struck yesterday afternoon.

All available National Guardsmen and metropolitan police were on duty and plans were made to call federal troops to assist in guarding the ruins and in rehabilitation.

Governor Sam Baker was asked by Mayor Victor Miller and Police Commissioner Allen Orrick to appeal to the government for troops.

Red Cross officials joined in the appeal to the government to send soldiers.

Food stations using war department supplies have been set up in stricken districts and preparations were under way for caring for an estimated 25,000 homeless.

Dormitories have been prepared at national guard armories and other public buildings.

Property damage could not be accurately estimated. It was variously placed at $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The number of injured in hospitals and private homes was more than 1,000. While it was impossible to determine the number hurt, police estimates placed it at about 1,500.

Every policeman in the city has been ordered for continuous duty and the entire Missouri national guard was mustered out. Orders were given police and guardsmen to shoot to kill anyone caught looting.

Red Cross canteens were established in several places last night and the number was increased today. All of the work of feeding and housing those left destitute was directed by St. Louis members of the Red Cross pending arrival of national relief workers.

Cots, blankets, tents and food were rushed to the city from Jefferson Barracks.

Throughout the night, crowds gathered outside hospitals seeking to identify friends and relatives. Many of the seriously injured in hospitals had not been found by their friends. The work of identification progressed as rapidly as reasonably possible.

Parts of the city looked this morning like a shell torn French village. Uniformed men clustered around fires and sentries walking their beats sustained the illusion. Some 800 American Legion volunteers helped militiamen patrol the afflicted territory.

"Who are you and where are you going?" were questions asked at every turn.

Activities of firemen and police were confined chiefly to fire fighting and removal of dead and injured from the debris. To the militiamen and Legionnaires was left the responsibility of guarding against looters.

The night was moderately warm and clear. Flickering candles in hundreds of wrecked homes betrayed occupancy. Most victims preferred to remain at home, whatever home might be. If there was nothing but a front porch, the family was usually there, sleeping on improvised chair beds.

One middle aged man expressed the sentiment everywhere in evidence when he dug into the debris of his house, hauled out the framed motto, "Be It Ever So Humble, There's No Place Like Home," and displayed it prominently on his shattered property.

The silence of one street in the heart of the wrecked territory was broken early this morning by a loud scream. A man called frantically for help and then clawed with his Bagdad, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Otto Koennecke, German flyer, took off at 7 a. m. today in his Caspar bi-plane Germania for Bender Abbas, Persia, but made a forced landing in which he broke the skid of his plane.

The damage to the plane made it uncertain when he would be able to resume his intended flight to Tokio and possibly the United States.

The forced landing today came almost immediately after the plane had risen from the field.

JURY IN CASE OF BECKY ROGERS
UNABLE TO AGREE

JUDGE SENDS JURY BACK TO FURTHER CONSIDER MATTERS

DEFENDANT, A UNIVERSITY CO-ED, ACCUSED OF CRIME OF ARSON

Georgetown, Texas, Sept. 30.—(UP)—The jury in the Becky Rogers case came into court room at 9 o'clock this morning and reported that it was unable to reach a verdict.

Judge Cooper Sansom sent the jury back to further consider the case.

After deliberating on the case from 2:48 Thursday afternoon until 8:50 in the evening the jury in the case against Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers charged with arson, failed to reach an agreement and retired for the night. They resumed their deliberation today.

Meanwhile, Becky, University of Texas co-ed, was returned to her quarters under bond. The girl, who is known for her scholastic ability is facing trial for burning a vacant building in Round Rock, Texas, and it is expected that she will be tried later for bank robbery.

At the closing sessions yesterday Mrs. Rogers heard the pleas for and against her with apparent unconcern. While spectators in the court room wept at the plea of her husband attorney, Becky nonchalantly powdered her nose.

The only emotion the pretty defendant showed was when Fred Blundell, district attorney who will prosecute her at La Grange Dec. 5 on charges of bank robbery, declared an attorney for the defense showed more signs of dementia praecox, than did his young lady client.

Then she laughed heartily.

No intimation of the stand the jury was taking could be had and court attaches and the large crowd of villagers who attended expected the jury would be unable to reach a decision for some time.

hands at a pile of brick and mortar. "I heard a moan down in there. Help me," he cried.

Firemen and police rushed to the scene. It required an hour of furious work to free a badly injured man trapped under the pile of debris. He directed rescuers by moaning answers to their calls.

A throng of curious passed up and down Lindell Boulevard, one of the principal residential streets laid low by the tornado, almost all night. Large searchlights from fire trucks played over the ruins and the crowds.

One family, cheerful despite a wrecked home, dug a phonograph from the ruins and played cards on a heap of twisted lumber to the strains of "At Sundown."

Like most of the victims, they were accepting their lot cheerfully. The storm only lasted five minutes in St. Louis before jumping across the river to continue its destruction in a cluster of Illinois towns, Granite City, Madison and Venice.

But during that brief time, the howling 80-mile gale swept through the residential district in a crazy path around the down-town area, tearing sections from solidly constructed brick buildings and leveling less substantial structures.

Automobiles, heavy trucks, motor buses and horse drawn vehicles in the path of the tornado were toppled over and thrown about by the wind, causing death and injury. Schools

FRED PALM, 29, OF LANSING, MICH., DRAWS SEVERE

SENTENCED TO LIFE TERM AT HARD LABOR IN STATE PRISON AT JACKSON

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Because he had a pint of gin in his home, Fred Palm, 29, was sentenced to a life term at hard labor in the state prison at Jackson.

He was the first man in whose case violation of the liquor law was construed as a felony under Michigan's new criminal code which went into effect 25 days ago.

The code, modeled on the New York Baumes' laws, makes a life sentence mandatory after a fourth conviction of felony.

Though Palm had given the police plenty of trouble, he never was regarded as a desperate criminal. Most of his offenses were against the prohibition act. He is married.

His last two offenses were linked. Arrested in July for the transportation of liquor, he skipped his $5,000 bond after arraignment. Police received word last week that he had returned home, and it was while raiding his house to arrest him that the officers found the pint of gin.

He pleaded guilty to the transportation charge and was sentenced by Judge Leland W. Carr to a term of from six months to two years. He was arraigned immediately on the charge of possessing a pint of gin and again pleaded guilty.

Judge Carr questioned Palm as to his previous offenses, evidence of which was submitted by the prosecutor. Palm admitted them all, though the judge warned him that he faced a life sentence.

Palm had been convicted five times of felonies in the Ingham county courts. He also served a term in Leavenworth penitentiary for counterfeiting and a short term for a misdemeanor.

"The sentence of this court is that you be confined in the state prison at Jackson at hard labor for life," the judge said.

DWIGHT W. MORROW
LEAVES MORGAN & CO.

New York, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Dwight W. Morrow, recently named minister to Mexico by President Coolidge, today severed his connection with J. P. Morgan & Company.

He had been an important partner in the house of Morgan for many years.

Announcement of his retirement was accompanied by the word that he would leave for Mexico City to assume his duties there about Oct. 10.

Comfrey, Minn., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Authorities today searched for two unidentified men who fired on the young son of P. P. Penner, a farmer near here, as the boy was picking apples in a tree in the farm orchard. The men stopped their automobile, fired on the boy, then sped away.

More than 20 shots were picked from the boy's body, but he did not suffer serious injuries.

ATTENDS BANQUET

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson was greeted by 500 persons attending the fifth annual banquet of the Rochester junior livestock show here last night, when he made his first public appearance since his operations at Mayo hospital. The governor was introduced but because of a recent tonsil operation, was unable to speak.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE ST. LOUIS TORNADO

Twelve maternity patients were moved to their homes on stretchers last night from the Mullanphy hospital where 12 persons had been injured by the storm and the building was so weakened that it was considered unsafe.

Miss Dolores Miller, 20, today mourned the loss of her father who died of heart failure when ruins of the Roselle Hotel where he had been living caught fire after the storm. Miller had rescued his daughter from the building.

"Our greatest difficulty in handling the terrible situation has been in keeping out of stricken areas the sight seers," Chief of Police Joseph Gerk said. Thousands flocked to the scenes of the worst destruction last night.

Motor bus and street car service was resumed this morning over most lines after hundreds of workers had labored through the night clearing the streets of debris and stringing new trolley wires.

Strict orders were issued to all police to "shoot to kill" anyone caught looting wrecked buildings.

Throughout last night partially wrecked automobiles which had been caught in the storm made their way through the streets enroute home. Most of them were without tops. Many had no headlights and even the tires were ripped from some.

Firemen at one engine house were playing horse shoes just before the storm struck when an alarm called them from their game. A few minutes later the roof of the building landed on the horseshoe court.

The wall of a rooming house crumbled during the storm revealing a partially clad young woman sitting before her dressing table. She started running around the room, discarding what clothing she had on instead of dressing.

Hotel lobbies were jammed with men and women unable to get to their homes last night. Restaurants also reported an unusual rush of business.

The upper half of a filling station adorned with all its signs and practically undisturbed inside, was lifted by the wind to the top of an automobile parked nearby.

Charles Heft, Madison, Ill., fell dead from shock while the storm was at its height.

Three men were killed at Granite City, Ill., when a crucible of molten metal was upset by the gale. Molten with the red hot metal, they all burned to death.

A bootlegger whose establishment was partially destroyed did a rushing business last night. One wall was torn away from a closet in which he kept the stock. Although the containers were plainly visible from the street, he carefully locked and unlocked the door every time he filled an order. "Can't take a chance," he explained.

STRIKING HIGH

RETURN TO STUDIES

Gary, Ind., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Students of Emerson high school who went on strike as a protest against admission of negro students to the school returned to their classes today. After a 10-minute mass meeting, at which strike leaders explained the steps taken to segregate the negro students, classes were resumed.

Three negro students, members of the senior class, will remain at the school, but the other 21 have been given temporary quarters in the negro junior high school here. The city council last night approved a $15,000 appropriation to provide temporary quarters for the negro students.

UNITED PRESS
SURVEY AMONG
POLITICIANS

GOV. AL SMITH IS MOST PROMINENT
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

SOME POLITICAL LEADERS BELIEVED
MAY BE NOMINATED
BY ACCLAMATION

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 30.—The three most widely discussed candidates for the 1928 republican presidential nomination are Herbert Hoover of California, Charles E. Hughes of New York and Frank O. Lowden of Illinois—according to a United Press survey of opinion among political leaders.

Gov. Al Smith of New York is the most prominent democratic candidate, the survey, conducted by the United Press bureaus, showed. He has gained sporadic backing in the west within the last few months but is still considerably short of the two-thirds convention vote necessary for nomination.

Other indications developed by the survey includes:

1. At least two-thirds of the republican leaders feel that Mr. Coolidge desired to eliminate himself when he issued the statement that he did not choose to be a candidate, although there are still a number of local leaders who feel the president should and will be nominated by acclamation.

2. Even wets are soft-pedaling on the prohibition issue, and most talk centers about the tariff and farm relief. Republicans are having no trouble whatever over the prohibition question, but mid-western dry democrats manifest displeasure over what they consider the efforts of eastern wets to dominate the party.

3. There is widespread apathy over the status of both parties and in many districts leaders are "lying low" to see which way the wind blows, both as to issues and candidates.

In republican ranks little work has been done for any of the candidates. Discussion has centered in newspaper editorials, interviews and privately issued statements of leaders. No big rallies have been held, no widespread voting clubs organized. None of the candidates has openly taken the stump.

Hughes, it was pretty generally agreed, is strong in the east but his strength diminishes to the west. From the central states to the western plains, Lowden is in the ascendancy. Beyond the Rocky Mountains Hoover is reported most popular.

Some organization work has been done for Smith and Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, in the democratic ranks. Clubs for Smith have been set in motion and it has lapped over into surrounding states.

The weakness of the Smith position at this time was reported to be the apparent unwillingness of many democratic senators and congressmen in dry communities to line up with the New York governor's ticket for fear they would turn their constituents against them in their own localities even if Smith were elected.

Among the dark horses the following were most prominently mentioned: Republicans—Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Speaker Nicholas Longworth and Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas.

DEATH TO ACE

Bremen, Sept. 30.—(UP)—The famous German war ace, George Wulf, was killed when a new type "Duck" plane, with the tail in front instead of rear, crashed late yesterday at a height of 200 feet.

On the basis of previous tests, German airline experts said the machine was "fool proof" against inexperienced pilots. In tests the plan had taken off and landed without the pilot touching the controls.

THAT OF DAUGHTER REDUCED
TO BOTULISM, FROM EATING
BERRIES

Enid, Okla., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Mary Atkinson walked from the Garfield county jail today, freed of a charge that she murdered for pastoral affection.

Three weeks after her arrest at the death of Mary Jane, daughter of the Rev. Charles Bailey, the nurse was released and what the state first charged was burkism or deliberate poisoning, was reduced to botulism, fatal disorder caused by poisoned blackberries.

David Foglesong, justice of the peace, ordered charges against the nurse dismissed at 11:20 A. M. today, after hearing two days of preliminary testimony and taking the case under advisement.

Freedom of the nurse answered the popular plea of the court crowd which had shouted for her release at the conclusion of yesterday's hearing.

At the same time, it became clear county authorities would push no further investigation of the death of Mrs. Bailey, who died thirteen days before the convulsive death of her daughter. Her death had been pronounced paralysis.

The granting of freedom to Miss Atkinson marked the close of the case in which it was shown she held an unusual affection for the minister, pastor of St. Matthews parish, which, Helen, his eldest daughter, feared had grown to a "greater love."

FRENCH CABINET
INSISTS UPON RECALL
SOVIET RUSS ENVOY

Rambouillet, France, Sept. 30.—(UP)—The French cabinet it was learned today has decided to insist upon the recall of Christian Rakovsky, Soviet Russian ambassador to France.

President Doumergue presided at the cabinet meeting here at which it was decided to instruct Ambassador Harbette at Moscow to make further representations to the Soviet government. In the interests of good relations, Harbette will inform the Moscow government, Rakovsky must be recalled.

Recall of Ambassador Rakovsky would not result in rupture of Franco-Russian relations. The French government's objections to the Soviet ambassador resulted from a manifesto issued by him some weeks ago in which he urged the soldiers of all countries to desert to the red army.

Vigorous public protest against the manifesto caused Rakovsky to qualify it with an explanation that he was endeavoring to cause trouble among French troops. Georges Tchitcherine, Soviet Russian foreign minister, repudiated the ambassador's manifesto. Presumably upon Rakovsky's recall another would be named in his place.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 30.—(UP)—A national coal strike involves interference with interstate commerce markets, Judge F. P. Schoonmaker ruled in United States district court today in granting the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation a preliminary injunction against the United Mine Workers.

The injunction, to be in force until further testimony is taken in the case, restrains the union from interfering with the company's operation of its mines and will cause sweeping eviction of union men from company houses.

Only where suits over the houses already have been filed in the state courts can the occupants remain.

The methods of the union on conducting a strike amount to "a conspiracy to interfere with the interstate marketing of coal produced in non-union mines by the means of strikes, force and intimidation at the point of production; and - - - this is all undertaken with the intent and purpose to prevent coal mined at non-union mines from finding its way to interstate commerce," Judge Schoonmaker said in his opinion.

PUPILS IN EXAMS
MADE GOOD GRADES

St. Paul, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Eighty percent of Minnesota school pupils who took examinations in June, made satisfactory grades, J. M. McConnell, state commissioner of education said today.

The state board of examiners for public schools had read 217,624 examination papers, of which 191,135 were passed.

County schools outside the towns and villages took two examinations, one in April and the second a month later. In towns and villages there was one examination in June, and 87 percent of the pupils passed the tests. The lower percentage is accounted for by the fact that in the towns, high schools were included in the tests.

Hotel lobbies were jammed with men and women unable to get to their homes last night. Restaurants also reported an unusual rush of business.

The upper half of a filling station adorned with all its signs and practically undisturbed inside, was lifted by the wind to the top of an automobile parked nearby.

Charles Heft, Madison, Ill., fell dead from shock while the storm was at its height.

Three men were killed at Granite City, Ill., when a crucible of molten metal was upset by the gale. Deluged with the red hot metal, they all burned to death.

A bootlegger whose establishment was partially destroyed did a rushing business last night. One wall was torn away from a closet in which he kept the stock. Although the containers were plainly visible from the street, he carefully locked and unlocked the door every time he filled an order. "Can't take a chance," he explained.

STRIKING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS
RETURN TO STUDIES

Gary, Ind., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Students of Emerson high school who went on strike as a protest against admission of negro students to the school returned to their classes today.

After a 10-minute mass meeting, at which strike leaders explained the steps taken to segregate the negro students, classes were resumed.

Three negro students, members of the senior class, will remain at the school, but the other 21 have been given temporary quarters in the negro junior high school here. The city council last night approved a $15,000 appropriation to provide temporary quarters for the negro students.

UNITED PRESS
SURVEY AMONG
POLITICIANS

GOV. AL SMITH IS MOST PROMINENT
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE

SOME POLITICAL LEADERS BELIEVED MAY BE NOMINATED
BY ACCLAMATION

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 30.—The three most widely discussed candidates for the 1928 republican presidential nomination are Herbert Hoover of California, Charles E. Hughes of New York and Frank O. Lowden of Illinois—according to a United Press survey of opinion among political leaders.

Gov. Al Smith of New York is the most prominent democratic candidate, the survey, conducted by the United Press, showed. He has gained sporadic backing in the west within the last few months but is still considerably short of the two-thirds convention vote necessary for nomination.

Other indications developed by the survey includes:

1. At least two-thirds of the republican leaders feel that Mr. Coolidge desired to eliminate himself when he issued the statement that he did not choose to be a candidate, although there are still a number of local leaders who feel the president should and will be nominated by acclamation.

2. Even wets are soft-pedaling on the prohibition issue, and most talk centers about the tariff and farm relief. Republicans are having no trouble whatever over the prohibition question, but mid-western dry democrats manifest displeasure over what they consider the efforts of eastern wets to dominate the party.

3. There is widespread apathy over the status of both parties and in many districts leaders are "lying low" to see which way the wind blows, both as to issues and candidates.

In republican ranks little work has been done for any of the candidates. Discussion has centered in newspaper editorials, interviews and privately issued statements of leaders. No big rallies have been held, no widespread voting clubs organized. None of the candidates has openly taken the stump.

Hughes, it was pretty generally agreed, is strong in the east but his strength diminishes to the west. From the central states to the western plains, Lowden is in the ascendancy. Beyond the Rocky Mountains Hoover is reported most popular.

Some organization work has been done for Smith and Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, in the democratic ranks. Clubs for Smith have been set in motion and it has lapped over into surrounding states.

The weakness of the Smith position at this time was reported to be the apparent unwillingness of many democratic senators and congressmen in dry communities to line up with the New York governor's ticket for fear they would turn their constituents against them in their own localities even if Smith were elected.

Among the dark horses the following were most prominently mentioned:

Republicans — Vice President Charles G. Dawes, Speaker Nicholas Longworth and Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas.

'FOOL PROOF'
PLANE BRINGS
DEATH TO ACE

Bremen, Sept. 30.—(UP)—The famous German war ace, George Wulf, was killed when a new type "Duck" plane, with the tail in front instead of rear, crashed late yesterday at a height of 200 feet.

On the basis of previous tests, German airline experts said the machine was "fool proof" against inexperienced pilots. In tests the plan had taken off and landed without the pilot touching the controls.

MARY ATKINSON, NURSE, FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

DEATH OF MRS. CHAS. BAILEY IS LAID TO PAR-ALYSIS

THAT OF DAUGHTER REDUCED
TO BOTULISM, FROM EATING
BERRIES

Enid, Okla., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Mary Atkinson walked from the Garfield county jail today, freed of a charge that she murdered for pastoral affection.

Three weeks after her arrest at the death of Mary Jane, daughter of the Rev. Charles Bailey, the nurse was released and what the state charged was burkism or deliberate poisoning, was reduced to botulism, fatal disorder caused by poisoned blackberries.

David Foglesong, justice of the peace, ordered charges against the nurse dismissed at 11:20 A. M. today, after hearing two days of preliminary testimony and taking the case under advisement.

Freedom of the nurse answered the popular plea of the court crowd which had shouted for her release at the conclusion of yesterday's hearing.

At the same time, it became clear county authorities would push no further investigation of the death of Mrs. Bailey, who died thirteen days before the convulsive death of her daughter. Her death had been pronounced paralysis.

The granting of freedom to Miss Atkinson marked the close of the case in which it was shown she held an unusual affection for the minister, pastor of St. Matthews parish, which, Helen, his eldest daughter, feared had grown to a "greater love."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS
CLOSES SCHOOLS

Wheatland, Wyo., Sept. 30.—(UP)—A sudden outbreak of infantile paralysis has closed the schools at Sunrise and Guernsey, Wyo., indefinitely, it was reported here today.

FRENCH CABINET
INSISTS UPON RECALL
SOVIET RUSS ENVOY

Rambouillet, France, Sept. 30.—(UP)—The French cabinet it was learned today has decided to insist upon the recall of Christian Rakovsky, Soviet Russian ambassador to France.

President Doumergue presided at the cabinet meeting here at which it was decided to instruct Ambassador Harbette at Moscow to make further representations to the Soviet government. In the interests of good relations, Harbette will inform the Moscow government, Rakovsky must be recalled.

Recall of Ambassador Rakovsky would not result in rupture of Franco-Russian relations. The French government's objections to the Soviet ambassador resulted from a manifesto issued by him some weeks ago in which he urged the soldiers of all countries to desert to the red army.

Vigorous public protest against the manifesto caused Rakovsky to qualify it with an explanation that he was endeavoring to cause trouble among French troops. Georges Tchitcherine, Soviet Russian foreign minister, repudiated his ambassador's manifesto. Presumably upon Rakovsky's recall another would be named in his place.

NATIONAL COAL STRIKE INTER-FERES WITH INTERSTATE COMMERCE MARKETS

PITTSBURGH TERMINAL COAL CORPORATION WINS AGAINST UNITED MINE WORKERS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 30.—(UP)—A national coal strike involves interference with interstate commerce markets, Judge F. P. Schoonmaker ruled in United States district court today in granting the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation a preliminary injunction against the United Mine Workers.

The injunction, to be in force until further testimony is taken in the case, restrains the union from interfering with the company's operation of its mines and will cause sweeping eviction of union men from company houses.

Only where suits over the houses already have been filed in the state courts can the occupants remain.

The methods of the union on conducting a strike amount to "a conspiracy to interfere with the interstate marketing of coal produced in non-union mines by the means of strikes, force and intimidation at the point of production; and - - - this is all undertaken with the intent and purpose to prevent coal mined at non-union mines from finding its way to interstate commerce," Judge Schoonmaker said in his opinion.

80 PER CENT OF
PUPILS IN EXAMS
MADE GOOD GRADES

St. Paul, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Eighty percent of Minnesota school pupils who took examinations in June, made satisfactory grades, J. M. McConnell, state commissioner of education said today.

The state board of examiners for public schools had read 217,624 examination papers, of which 191,135 were passed.

County schools outside the towns and villages took two examinations, one in April and the second a month later. In towns and villages there was one examination in June, and 87 percent of the pupils passed the tests. The lower percentage is accounted for by the fact that in the towns, high schools were included in the tests.

STRUCK UNCONSCIOUS
BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Red Wing, Minn., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Rendered unconscious when lightning struck their home late Thursday, G. O. Vinquist and his son, Marvin, 11, were recovering today.

The father and son were in the basement when the bolt hit the chimney and followed the electric wiring into the basement striking the couple.

The interior of the home was badly damaged.

CASE OF PROMOTER
CONTINUED TO OCT. 14

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(UP)—The case of Clarence Cochran, St. Paul, charged with using the mails to defraud, was continued until Oct. 14, when called before Commissioner Henry Bettler here today.

Cochran's bond was increased from $10,000 to $20,000 on request of St. Paul authorities, and he was remanded to jail through inability to make the extra $10,000 bond.

4 LOSE LIVES WHEN SMALL STOVE EXPLODES

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Four persons lost their lives early today when a small stove exploded in the farm home of T. Glendenning, near Darmoody, Sask., it was reported here.

The dead were Mrs. Glendenning, a daughter Nancy, 5, a son, George 1 1/2 years, and Mrs. S. Reid, a friend of the family.

The blast ripped off the roof and one side of the house and the rest of the structure burned to the ground.

BAIL POSTED FOR MISSING WITNESS

Hammonton, N. J., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Bail of $2,000 was posted today by Edison Hedges, counsel for Willis Beach, missing Lillien Dahl murder witness. Hedges was indicted yesterday by the Atlantic county grand jury. He was accused of advising his client to leave the jurisdiction of the county authorities investigating the murder of the aged narcotic specialist.

Meanwhile, detectives interrogated two new witnesses, whose stories may develop an important angle of the investigation.

SAYS SHE PUNISHED WITH LEATHER STRAP, USING IT LIGHTLY

Minneapolis, Sept. 30.—(UP)—On her defense that but three or four strokes with a leather strap were administered with the permission of Roy Sauer's mother, Miss Hiltja Van Der Bie, former principal of the Clinton school here late yesterday won the $10,000 damage suit brought against her by the boy's parents.

The teacher was charged with having whipped the boy, striking him about 20 times across the back and thighs, and as a result of the whipping, causing the pupil to be under medical care for three weeks.

BRAINERD CHORAL CLUB IN CONTEST

Sixth District to be Represented at Federation Choral Contest at Crookston

SEEK FURTHER HONORS

Won District Championship, Splendidly Directed by Miss Effie Drexler (Contributed)

The Sixth District will be represented in the choral contest to be held at the State Federation meeting in Crookston Oct. 6, by the Brainerd Choral club, which won the district championship. The Choral club is an organization sponsored and financed by the Brainerd Musical club. As the young maidens and matrons composing this club are all employed women (employed either in the home, the school room or in business offices) it seemed almost hopeless for them to take a couple of days off. But through the splendid co-operation of school board, superintendent, principal, normal training teacher, students, employers, husbands, auto owners and drivers and the Choral club members themselves (some of whom are taking a part of their vacation in this way) it has been arranged for them to go to Crookston and bring back to Brainerd another musical trophy—we hope. But whether they are awarded first place or not, we know that they will worthily represent us—and their district.

Their leader, Miss Effie Drexler, reports that they are practicing faithfully and that she has high hopes. If they win, it will be due to their skilled leadership and the splendid co-operation given this leader, coupled with their own musical ability. Besides sponsoring local musical talent through the organization of this Choral club and by presenting the best sample of local talent on its yearly home talent program, the Musical club has tried, during the twenty four years of its existence, to educate the public in musical appreciation. For that reason, it has retained a very low membership fee, and a moderate priced concert ticket. It is one of the few organizations that has been able to furnish high priced artistic talent at prices that the music loving public could afford to pay. There isn't any bigger bargain to be found in Brainerd than the Musical club membership ticket. It permits the holder to hear seven artists, besides the best of our local talent, and one dramatic reader during the year.

The first of the artists will be heard at Elks hall on Sunday, Oct. 16, at 3:30 P. M. He is the first violinist of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra—Alexander Zukovsky. He is also at the head of the violin school in the Chicago Philharmonic Conservatory. You can't afford to miss this concert—or the other six. One of the "other six" will be given by Stanley Deacon, who made such a hit last year, not only as a dramatic singer, but as a humorist. Another will be given by one of Chicago's most distinguished cellists—Jugoslav Gons. He came to America seven years ago and each year has gathered new musical laurels.

Besides these musical events, there are one or two social occasions during the year where the new and the old members may become better acquainted. At the regular programs there is little opportunity for social intercourse, but, since these programs furnish fruitful subjects of conversation in every social gathering, they add considerably to the general social atmosphere of Brainerd. In fact, the club might be counted among the city's most notable assets.

TELEPHONE SERVICE TO MEXICO

Now that telephone service has been inaugurated with Mexico, it will not be necessary to write so many notes. When President Calles finds something disturbing in the relations between his country and the United States, all he has to do is call President Coolidge on the telephone and they can talk directly without having to submit a lot of formal documents through diplomatic channels. At least, that is the common sense view of bringing such matters to the attention of the government.

The new telephone service will bring Mexico's capital city, her principal seat, Tampico, and the capitals of some of her richest and most progressive states within range of American telephone communication.

The Bell System has made arrangements to connect at Laredo, Texas, with the newly completed lines of the Mexican Telephone and Telegraph Company, a subsidiary of the Inter-National Telephone & Telegraph Company. At this point the line will cross the Rio Grande which there forms the international boundary. From Nuevo Laredo, on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, the long distance line runs through some arid ground regions and through mountainous districts, ranches and farming country, southward to Mexico City and Pueblo. It runs through Monterey, Saltillo, San Luis Potosi and Queretaro, affording telephone communications to those points. A branch line extends from San Luis Potosi to Tampico, the important oil port on the semi-tropical east coast of Mexico. Another line runs from Tampico to Victoria.

The Mexican long distance lines have practically all been built within the last year or two and are of thoroughly modern construction.

Telephone repeaters have been installed at intervening points to strengthen the voice carrying currents as they become weak from traveling long distances and the lines have been constructed with a view to provide such additional lines as the growth of the traffic may require.

The Bell System already connects with the telephone systems of Canada, Cuba and by radio telephone with Great Britain.

The new service adds Mexico to the line of countries which are within speaking distance of American telephone users.

DAYS OF BIG EATER PASSING

IN polite society the day of the big eater is passing.

Out on the farm at harvest or threshing or haying time, the "big eats" are still necessary or the farm labor machinery would stall and refuse to operate.

But in the white collar, brain worker type, the old time breakfast in the cities, as noted by a St. Paul restaurant man, has switched from cereal, ham and eggs, rolls and coffee to orange juice, toast and milk.

"Eating," says this expert observer, "has been placed on a scientific basis and the restaurant owner must meet this condition."

The National Restaurant Owners Association met at Buffalo and discussed trade matters. One point not brought out was that maybe the diners were not eating so much because the portions served were not so large.

FIXING IDENTITY OF BABIES

SUCH a mixup of babies as was reported occurring in a Cleveland hospital could not have occurred in an institution with modern ways. Here in Brainerd, at Duluth, in the Twin Cities and elsewhere footprints of the babies born in hospitals are taken, recorded and preserved.

Each foot of the baby is printed on a birth certificate. Some institutions also record the thumbprint of the mother, as well as a complete history of the mother and baby. The Minnesota Department of Health years ago made the request that such footprints and thumbprints be taken.

St. Luke's hospital of Duluth also places a necklace of lettered beads around each infant's neck and St. Mary's hospital of Duluth ties a printed band on the baby's wrist.

In all hospital institutions in Minnesota the identity of any infant is not left to the memory of any attending nurse.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

OCTOBER 9th to 15th has been designated fire prevention week. When one stops to consider the enormous losses resulting each year from fires the importance of making this an educational week is better appreciated.

Fire destroys property to the value of $1064 every minute; the total loss for the past year was $560,548,624. Every community contributes to this loss, much of which can be avoided through reasonable means of protection and care.

COAL LOSING SOME OF ITS CUSTOMERS

As remarked by the Brainerd Dispatch at the time of the last big coal strike, the inconvenience caused by stoppage of supply and fluctuation in prices would react on the whole industry. And it has.

The oil-heater is growing in popularity. And with growing consumption of oil as fuel comes the daily extension of electric generation from waterpower. Where coal is continued, improved methods gain greater heat and use cheaper and less coal.

ODD thing about the radio reception of the Dempsey-Tunney fight. When Tunney dropped to the floor following Dempsey's haymaker, most of the millions of listeners involuntarily started to toll the one, two, three, etc., count and thought Dempsey had won. Of course, the radio listeners did not "see" that Dempsey was slow getting into his neutral corner and thus delayed the count.

THE Fargo rate case which puts Brainerd out of the general run of freight tariffs so far as the Twin Cities are concerned, produces such vagaries as these. For instance, a Brainerd shipper paid $36 to have an iron tank sent from the Twin Cities to Iron-ton, $40 to have the same kind of a tank sent to Fort Ripley, and $50 to have one sent to Brainerd.

SAID a wise football mentor: "A good football team makes its own breaks."

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough, a gay, careless youth of Killanmaul, a village on the West Coast of Ireland, near Knockbotherum, decides to go to America. He is in love with Sheila, daughter of Old Tom Kildare, and asks her to wait until he can send for her. Sheila doubts his stability for he has flirted dangerously with the girls of the countryside, including Annie Finnegan, daughter of Denis Finnegan, a hard man, but she gives her promise.

Other guests entered the inn and gathered at the bar for a bit of appetizer. Emmett did not arrive until just time for them to sit down at the tables. He was dressed in his best, and the black hair shone in the yellow light of the ceiling lamps above the banquet board. Good natured glances greeted him.

"Tis a long swim back home!" "A longer walk than from here to Knockbotherum!" "An' no pleasant stops on the way!"

But the Murtough was unaffected by these quips. Here was the farewell supper prepared and arranged in his honor, and everyone of importance in the village was there. What mattered it to him if a few of the jealous and envious tried to tease him? They would be glad if only they had a chance to play the part.

It was a merry supper. The Squire himself came down from his home on the Hill and with superlatives that were sweet to the Murtough praised the adventurous spirit of one of Killanmaul's lads and predicted in flowery language prosperity beyond words for the adventurer in the new world. Father O'Keefe, too, spoke in laudatory rhetoric of the boy who was about to leave the old home-side for an unknown country across the Atlantic. Good ale and whisky had warmed the hearts even of the envious, and through it all Emmett Murtough boasted and bragged of what the future would bring to him and what he would do in America. In their merriment the diners did not see a bent figure enter and walk swiftly around to behind the Murtough's place of honor. Suddenly Murtough was swung out of his chair and to his feet to face Denis Finnegan.

"Ye scut, ye! Ye'll go away, will ye, an' break yer promise, ye lying devil!"

Emmett Murtough threw his arm up defensively as Denis swung his riding crop. A livid welt rose on the cheek of Murtough. Again and again the rod descended across the head and shoulders of the younger man. Emmett folded his arms about his head to protect himself, but Finnegan continued to rain blow after blow upon him.

The guests, astonished at the suddenness of the onslaught, sat in amazement. The Squire and Father O'Keefe were the first to reach the infuriated Finnegan. They dragged him away.

"What's the meaning of this?" demanded the Squire.

"Ask the lying scut, he knows," replied Finnegan sourly. "I'll teach him to leave decent men's daughters alone, damn him!" He broke from the grasp of the Squire and with one hand flung Emmett Murtough's face upward into his. "Get out of here! If ye are in Killanmaul an hour from now, God help ye!" he cried and flung the boy from him. Turning on his heel, Denis Finnegan walked from the room, and hardly had he reached the bar and called for his drink when Emmett Murtough fled through the door of the inn and into the night.

Sheila was reading while waiting for the return of Old Tom from the supper to Emmett. The going of Emmett would be for the best, she had reasoned as she dreamed alone. She knew he was a wild one, but over there hard work would bring him to his own. She disliked leaving Killanmaul. The village and the countryside and the sea were all dear to her. All of the Kildares and the O'wenes, her mother's people, had lived there save for those sons who had gone away to the wars which had visited every generation and to which both families had contributed of their men. Sheila never had loved anyone. Emmett was the only boy who had ever wooed her, and when once she had put him in his place she had found much to love in his carelessness and the very youth of him.

Sheila started. "Who could that be?" she murmured to herself as she crossed to the door. "Who's there?" she called.

"Tis me, Emmett! Open the door—hurry!" "Emmett! Why, what is it? An' ye'r hurt! There's blood upon yer face! What's happened?"

"Quick! I can't tell you now. He dropped a carpet bag at his feet. I've got to borrow yer pony an' ride to Knockbotherum the night. Hurry! Get the lantern an' let me saddle him."

"But, tell me, what has happened—what has happened, Emmett, darling?"

"Tis Old Finnegan. The man's crazy. He just attacked me at the inn! I couldn't fight back; I couldn't hurt the old man. An' he's after me now! I've got to get to Knockbotherum!"

Sheila hurried to the kitchen and lighted the lantern with Emmett at her heels. Soon they had caught the pony and Emmett quick-saddled him. He tied his carpet bag to the saddle and made ready to be off.

"Oh, Emmett, an' what have ye done that Denis Finnegan should be down on ye?" "Nothing, I tell ye. The old man's just crazy. I did nothing, nothing!"

"An' ye'r going away now an' this is to be goodby?"

"I've got to, Sheila, darling; I've got to."

"Oh, Emmett, an' suppose I never see ye again!—An' such a leave taking! Emmett, Emmett!"

"There, there, Sheila; don't take on. Sure an' I'll write to ye soon an' it'll be sooner that I'll be sending for ye to come to America to me."

Sheila flung herself into the Murtough's arms and lifted her lips for his kiss. Surely it was not the sweet farewell of which she had been dreaming there in the cottage such a short time ago. Murtough hugged her to him, then flung himself into the saddle. Sheila ran after him to the roadside and waved to the disappearing rider, who never so much as turned his head, but spurred on toward Knockbotherum until swallowed in the darkness of the night.

CHAPTER III
New York City

The scandal at O'Farrell's Inn was a nine days' wonder from Killanmaul to Knockbotherum, and the gossips, their tongues let loose upon a juicy morsel, painted Emmett Murtough in black, black colors. There were no defenders for the emigrant now on board ship for America. Even Old Tom Kildare, who, it is true, did defend him to Sheila in the privacy of their own home, was silent among his neighbors. All the sympathy was for poor Annie Finnegan, who had been promised the ring; and Denis was commended highly for his lacing of the impudent philanderer.

"He should have killed the scut," was the general opinion of the countryside, and fathers whose daughters had entertained the gay Murtough questioned them pointedly.

The gossip ceased and the scandal passed into village history several weeks later when the banns were published for the marriage of Annie Finnegan and John Gormley, the blacksmith, whose shop was situated on the other side of Knockbotherum. The wedding was held at the earliest possible day thereafter and Annie Finnegan that was, was congratulated, and, so, too, was John Gormley, for all of Killanmaul knew that Annie was a good girl in spite of the slip.

Sheila suffered deeply. She had known that Emmett was a playful fellow, but never did she believe that he would be guilty of such an offense. The night of his running away in all its detail passed through her mind every day as the weeks rolled on. Sheila remembered the welts on his face and the blood and his hurry to be off and the lack of love and affection in his farewell. That hurt most of all. Now she never could go to him over there in America. That she knew. Even her father seemed less enthusiastic about the match, although Old Tom dreamed of the land across the sea and frequently mumbled his regret that he himself in his younger days had not undertaken the voyage. But he did not press the wish. John Emmett upon Sheila.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. French, who went to St. Paul on their wedding trip, returned this afternoon.

Mrs. L. H. Cooke, mother of Mrs. R. R. Wise, who has been visiting in the city for some time, returned this afternoon for her home in Columbus, Ohio.

John Erickson gave a picnic to his many Finnish friends at Piskala farm one mile west of the center of town yesterday. There were about two hundred present and refreshments were served and different out-of-door games played. The N. P. band furnished music for the occasion.

Mrs. Fred Ferrar and Miss Winnie Small returned this afternoon from Bozeman, Mont., where they have been visiting for some time.

City Attorney Cressell was doing a stunt by the river yesterday afternoon and in trying to cross a boom fell in. He came out unharmed but very much the worse for a swim.

Concave curves tend to throw the gases back into the center of the chamber, thereby retarding cooling and causing "detonation" or knocking. Convex curves in the G-M-R Head have the opposite effect. They deflect the gases smoothly along the wall into the clearance space above the piston, thereby aiding cooling and reducing knock.

Deep clearance space also retards cooling. Note how the depth of the clearance space in the G-M-R Head has been reduced to facilitate cooling by water. Here knocking is further reduced.

The comparative effects of concave and convex curves are illustrated by a spoon held under a faucet. At the left, the water strikes the concave surface and causes a violent disturbance. At the right, the water, like the gases in the G-M-R Head, strikes the convex surface and glides smoothly away.

TELEPHONE SERVICE TO MEXICO

Now that telephone service has been inaugurated with Mexico, it will not be necessary to write so many notes. When President Calles finds something disturbing in the relations between his country and the United States, all he has to do is call President Coolidge on the telephone and they can talk directly without having to submit a lot of formal documents through diplomatic channels. At least, that is the common sense view of bringing such matters to the attention of the government.

The new telephone service will bring Mexico's capital city, her principal seat, Tampico, and the capitals of some of her richest and most progressive states within range of American telephone communication.

The Bell System has made arrangements to connect at Laredo, Texas, with the newly completed lines of the Mexican Telephone and Telegraph Company, a subsidiary of the Inter-National Telephone & Telegraph Company. At this point the line will cross the Rio Grande which there forms the international boundary. From Nuevo Laredo, on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande, the long distance line runs through some arid ground regions and through mountainous districts, ranches and farming country, southward to Mexico City and Puebla. It runs through Monterey, Saltillo, San Luis Potosi and Queretaro, affording telephone communications to those points. A branch line extends from San Luis Potosi to Tampico, the important oil port on the semi-tropical east coast of Mexico. Another line runs from Tampico to Victoria.

The Mexican long distance lines have practically all been built within the last year or two and are of thoroughly modern construction.

Telephone repeaters have been installed at intervening points to strengthen the voice carrying currents as they become weak from traveling long distances and the lines have been constructed with a view to provide such additional lines as the growth of the traffic may require.

The Bell System already connects with the telephone systems of Canada, Cuba and by radio telephone with Great Britain.

The new service adds Mexico to the line of countries which are within speaking distance of American telephone users.

DAYS OF BIG EATER PASSING

In polite society the day of the big eater is passing.

Out on the farm at harvest or threshing or haying time, the "big eats" are still necessary or the farm labor machinery would stall and refuse to operate.

But in the white collar, brain worker type, the old time breakfast in the cities, as noted by a St. Paul restaurant man, has switched from cereal, ham and eggs, rolls and coffee to orange juice, toast and milk.

"Eating," says this expert observer, "has been placed on a scientific basis and the restaurant owner must meet this condition."

The National Restaurant Owners Association met at Buffalo and discussed trade matters. One point not brought out was that maybe the diners were not eating so much because the portions served were not so large.

FIXING IDENTITY OF BABIES

Such a mixup of babies as was reported occurring in a Cleveland hospital could not have occurred in an institution with modern ways. Here in Brainerd, at Duluth, in the Twin Cities and elsewhere footprints of the babies born in hospitals are taken, recorded and preserved.

Each foot of the baby is printed on a birth certificate. Some institutions also record the thumbprint of the mother, as well as a complete history of the mother and baby. The Minnesota Department of Health years ago made the request that such footprints and thumbprints be taken.

St. Luke's hospital of Duluth also places a necklace of lettered beads around each infant's neck and St. Mary's hospital of Duluth ties a printed band on the baby's wrist.

In all hospital institutions in Minnesota the identity of any infant is not left to the memory of any attending nurse.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

OCTOBER 9th to 15th has been designated fire prevention week. When one stops to consider the enormous losses resulting each year from fires the importance of making this an educational week is better appreciated.

Fire destroys property to the value of $1064 every minute; the total loss for the past year was $560,548,624. Every community contributes to this loss, much of which can be avoided through reasonable means of protection and care.

COAL LOSING SOME OF ITS CUSTOMERS

As remarked by the Brainerd Dispatch at the time of the last big coal strike, the inconvenience caused by stoppage of supply and fluctuation in prices would react on the whole industry. And it has.

The oil-heater is growing in popularity. And with growing consumption of oil as fuel comes the daily extension of electric generation from waterpower. Where coal is continued, improved methods gain greater heat and use cheaper and less coal.

ODD thing about the radio reception of the Dempsey-Tunney fight. When Tunney dropped to the floor following Dempsey's haymaker, most of the millions of listeners involuntarily started to toll the one, two, three, etc., count and thought Dempsey had won. Of course, the radio listeners did not "see" that Dempsey was slow getting into his neutral corner and thus delayed the count.

THE Fargo rate case which puts Brainerd out of the general run of freight tariffs so far as the Twin Cities are concerned, produces such vagaries as these. For instance, a Brainerd shipper paid $36 to have an iron tank sent from the Twin Cities to Iron-ton, $40 to have the same kind of a tank sent to Fort Ripley, and $50 to have one sent to Brainerd.

Irish Hearts

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough, a gay, careless youth of Killamau, a village on the West Coast of Ireland, near Knockbotherum, decides to go to America. He is in love with Sheila, daughter of Old Tom Kildare, and asks her to wait until he can send for her. Sheila doubts his stability for he has flirted dangerously with the girls of the countryside, including Annie Finnegan, daughter of Denis Finnegan, a hard man, but she gives her promise.

Other guests entered the inn and gathered at the bar for a bit of appetizer. Emmett did not arrive until just time for them to sit down at the tables. He was dressed in his best, and the black hair shone in the yellow light of the ceiling lamps above the banquet board. Good natured glances greeted him.

"Tis a long swim back home!" "A longer walk than from here to Knockbotherum!" "An' no pleasant stops on the way!"

But the Murtough was unaffected by these quips. Here was the farewell supper prepared and arranged in his honor, and everyone of importance in the village was there. What mattered it to him if a few of the jealous and envious tried to tease him? They would be glad if only they had a chance to play the part.

It was a merry supper. The Squire himself came down from his home on the hill and with superlatives that were sweet to the Murtough praised the adventurous spirit of one of Killamau's lads and predicted in flowery language prosperity beyond words for the adventurer in the new world. Father O'Keefe, too, spoke in laudatory rhetoric of the boy who was about to leave the old home-side for an unknown country across the Atlantic. Good ale and whisky had warmed the hearts even of the envious, and through it all Emmett Murtough boasted and bragged of what the future would bring to him and what he would do in America. In their merriment the diners did not see a bent figure enter and walk swiftly around to behind the Murtough's place of honor. Suddenly Murtough was swung out of his chair and to his feet to face Denis Finnegan.

Emmett folded his arms about his head to protect himself.

"Ye scut, ye! Ye'll go away, will ye, an' break yer promise, ye lying devil!"

Emmett Murtough threw his arm up defensively as Denis swung his riding crop. A livid welt rose on the cheek of Murtough. Again and again the rod descended across the head and shoulders of the younger man. Emmett folded his arms about his head to protect himself, but Finnegan continued to rain blow after blow upon him.

The guests, astonished at the suddenness of the onslaught, sat in amazement. The Squire and Father O'Keefe were the first to reach the infuriated Finnegan. They dragged him away.

"What's the meaning of this?" demanded the Squire.

"Ask the lying scut, he knows," replied Finnegan sourly. "I'll teach him to leave decent men's daughters alone, damn him!" He broke from the grasp of the Squire and with one hand flung Emmett Murtough's face upward into his. "Get out of here! If ye are in Killamau an' here from now, God help ye!" he cried and flung the boy from him. Turning on his heel, Denis Finnegan walked from the room, and hardly had he reached the bar and called for his drink when Emmett Murtough fled through the door of the inn and into the night.

Sheila was reading while waiting for the return of Old Tom from the supper to Emmett. The going of Emmett would be for the best, she had reasoned as she dreamed alone. She knew he was a wild one, but over there hard work would bring him to his own. She disliked leaving Killamau. The village and the countryside and the sea were all dear to her. All of the Kildares and the O'wenes, her mother's people, had lived there save for those sons who had gone away to the wars which had visited every generation and to which both families had contributed of their men. Sheila never had loved anyone. Emmett was the only boy who had ever wooed her, and when once she had put him in his place she had found much to love in his carelessness and the very youth of him.

Sheila started. "Who could that be?" she murmured to herself as she crossed to the door. "Who's there?" she called.

"Tis me—Emmett! Open the door—hurry!"

"Emmett! Why, what is it? An' ye're hurt! There's blood upon yer face! What's happened?"

"Quick! I can't tell you now. He dropped a carpet bag at his feet. 'I've got to borrow yer pony an' ride to Knockbotherum this night. Hurry! Get the lantern an' let me saddle him.'"

"But, tell me, what has happened—what has happened, Emmett, darling?"

"Tis old Finnegan. The man's crazy. He just attacked me at the inn. I couldn't fight back; I couldn't hurt the old man. An' he's after me now! I've got to get to Knockbotherum!"

Sheila hurried to the kitchen and lighted the lantern with Emmett at her heels. Soon they had caught the pony and Emmett quick-saddled him. He tied his carpet bag to the saddle and made ready to be off.

"Oh, Emmett, an' what have ye done that Denis Finnegan should be down on ye?"

"Nothing, I tell ye. The old man's just crazy. I did nothing, nothing!"

"An' ye're going away now an' this is to be goodbye?"

"I've got to, Sheila, darling; I've got to."

"Oh, Emmett, an' suppose I never see ye again!—An' such a leave taking! Emmett, Emmett!"

"There, there, Sheila; don't take on. Sure an' I'll write to ye soon an' it'll be sooner that I'll be sending for ye to come to America to me."

Sheila flung herself into the Murtough's arms and lifted her lips for his kiss. Surely it was not the sweet farewell of which she had been dreaming there in the cottage such a short time ago. Murtough hugged her to him, then flung himself into the saddle. Sheila ran and waved to the disappearing rider, who never so much as turned his head, but spurred on toward Knockbotherum until swallowed in the darkness of the night.

CHAPTER III

New York City

The scandal at O'Farrell's Inn was a nine days' wonder from Killamau to Knockbotherum; and the gossips, their tongues let loose upon a juicy morsel, painted Emmett Murtough in black, back colors. There were no defenders for the emigrant now on board ship for America. Even Old Tom Kildare, who, it is true, did defend him to Sheila in the privacy of their own home, was silent among his neighbors. All the sympathy was for poor Annie Finnegan, who had been promised the ring; and Denis was commended highly for his lack of the impudent philanthropist.

"He should have kilt the scut," was the general opinion of the countryside, and fathers whose daughters had entertained the gay Murtough questioned them pointedly.

The gossip ceased and the scandal passed into village history several weeks later when the banns were published for the marriage of Annie Finnegan and John Gormley, the blacksmith, whose shop was situated on the other side of Knockbotherum. The wedding was held at the earliest possible day thereafter and Annie Finnegan that was, was congratulated, and so, too, was John Gormley, for all of Killamau knew that Annie was a good girl in spite of the slip.

Sheila suffered deeply. She had known that Emmett was a playful fellow, but never did she believe that he would be guilty of such an offense. The night of his running away in all its detail passed through her mind every day as the weeks rolled on. Sheila remembered the welts on his face and the blood and his hurry to be off and the lack of love and affection in his farewell. That hurt most of all. Now she never could go to him over there in America. That she knew. Even her father seemed less enthusiastic about the match, although Old Tom dreamed of the land across the sea and frequently mumbled his regret that he himself in his younger days had not undertaken the voyage. But he did not press the wish to join Emmett upon Sheila.

PIRATES JUST ABOUT GRABBING PENNANT

VICTORY OVER REDS TODAY CINCHES IT

CARDS' CHANCE OF WINNING WITHOUT PLAYOFF WAS LOST YESTERDAY

ST. LOUIS - CINCINNATI GAME WAS "HARD LUCK" CONTEST FOR CARDS

(By United Press)

Victory over the Reds at Cincinnati today will assure the Pittsburgh Pirates of winning the 1927 National League pennant. If they lose, it will mean the Cardinals and Giants still have a chance to tie for the lead in the senior league.

The Cards' chance of winning without a play-off was lost yesterday when the Reds beat them, 3 to 2. If Pittsburgh loses the remaining three games with the Reds and the Cards win their last two with the Cubs, the league standing will be tied at the end of the week.

The Giants can also tie by winning three games if the Pirates lose three. The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	93	58	.616
St. Louis	91	61	.599
New York	90	61	.596

Babe Ruth had a chance today to break his 1921 home run record, which he equalled in the Yankees' game with Washington yesterday by hitting his 58th and 59th homers. New York staged a typical Yankee rampage and beat the Senators 15 to 4.

The other two, hit in the first and fifth innings, cleared into the bleachers.

Lisenbee was pitching when Ruth made his first homer and Hopkins was the victim of the second.

The St. Louis-Cincinnati game was a "hard luck" contest for the Cards from the start. Young Frankhouse pitched well enough for St. Louis to win any ball game, but four of the five hits he allowed had to come in the fourth inning. And in that fatal inning, Frankhouse picked up the wet, slippery ball and threw it into right field when he had an easy out at first base. The four hits and the error went for three runs. St. Louis' eight hits off May could only be made to score two runs.

Eleven hits made by the Braves off Ray Miller, Phillies' recruit, were kept so scattered that only one run resulted. The score was Philadelphia 7, Boston 1.

The Athletics lost to the Red Sox due to the weakness of Guy Cantrell, recruit pitcher, who allowed 14 hits. Jack Bradley, another newcomer, who pitched for Boston, held the runners-up in the American League to six hits.

TOLEDO'S FIRST JUNIOR WORLD'S SERIES UNDER WAY

Toledo, O., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Toledo's first junior world's series, twice postponed because of rain, finally got under way this afternoon.

Despite the downpour of rain for the last two days, the grounds were in perfect condition when the Mudhens, champions of the American association, and the Buffalo Bisons, international league winners, took the field.

ON THE SIDELINES

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Minn.—Bob Tanner and Nagurski are being used at right end and Ukkeberg, Kakela, Madere and Johnson at left tackle—the two weak spots in "Doc" Spears' Minnesota line.

Evansville, Ill.—Appointment of Ralph Baker and Tom Stidham as assistant football coaches was announced by Northwestern University. The university also announced "no scouting" agreements had been reached with Missouri and Utah universities. Practice scrimmage has been prevented by rain.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—An increasing list of casualties has hampered Coach Weiman of Michigan in preparing his team to meet Ohio Wesleyan Saturday. Taylor, Nyland, Gabel, Pommerening, Thisted, Bovard and Schoenfeld, linemen, have been hurt and the backfield is temporarily without the services of Miller, Steub, Puckelwartz, Hoffman and Greenwald.

Columbus, O.—Robin Bell, Marek and Eby have been punting 65 yards consistently in workouts. Ohio followers are also satisfied the aerial attack will be working satisfactorily when the season opens. Marek, Grimm and Eby have shown mid-season form in passing.

Terris has been clamoring for a 135-pound title match with Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, and the outcome of his bout with Martinez was one of the biggest ring upsets of the year.

BAN JOHNSIN IN CRITICISM OF JUDGE LANDIS

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Ban Johnson, president of the American league today issued a statement severely criticizing Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, and the management of the Chicago American league club.

The statement referred to the "childish tactics of the Chicago club" in its fight against Johnson, and said they "had only been outdone by the petty tactics of the office of the commissioner of baseball."

The commissioner's office, Johnson said, "has failed to function as was provided in the agreement (under which it was established) insofar as the conduct of mutual relations is concerned."

The office's tactics, the statement said, would be "amazing were it not what might be expected from one of the peculiar quirks of the commissioner himself."

Madison, Wis.—Rain prevented satisfactory workouts of the University of Wisconsin football squad. Shoemaker, heavyweight tackle prospect, has been shifted to center by Coach Thistlethwaite.

BABE RUTH WHEN "RIGHT" IS A PROBLEM

GIVES YANKEES OUTFIELD A WONDERFUL ADVANTAGE OVER OPPONENTS

BAMBINO HAS BEEN HAVING ONE OF HIS BEST YEARS IN THE FIELD

This is the first of a series of four stories comparing the lineups of the New York Yankees, American league champions, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, probable winners of the National league pennant. In this article the rival outfields are discussed.

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Sept. 30.—The outfield advantage that the New York Yankees have over the Pittsburgh Pirates lies principally in Col. Jacob Ruppert's $70,000-a-year bargain—Babe Ruth.

The big slugger, unleashing a powerful batting attack in the late season, will carry into the world series next week whatever momentum attaches itself to the tying or breaking of his six-year-old home run record.

When Ruth shot his 58th and 59th home runs into the right field bleachers at the Yankee stadium yesterday, thereby equalling the mark that seemed incredible when he set it in Cleveland, 1921, he made hundreds of dollars for himself and his teammates and for the National leaguers to be met in the post season series.

For when Ruth is "right" the fans can't keep away and Forbes field and the stadium were assured capacity crowds by the Babe's late-September spurt.

He has two more games against the pitching talent of the Washington Senators and if he cracks out No. 60—and it's a good bet he will—he will increase the series crowds by thousands.

Despite his 59 homers, Ruth has been dissatisfied with his batting exploits for a great part of the season. His latest batting average is but slightly over the .350 mark and Ruth considers him in a slump at that figure. He believes he should be some 20 points higher and hopes for at least that mark against Pittsburgh.

In addition to his work on the offense, Ruth has been having one of his best years in the field. His arm has cut off a great many runs at the plate and he covers a surprising amount of territory.

Paul Waner will be Ruth's rival in right field if the Pirates win the pennant as they can be taking only one more game. Waner's .385 batting average leads the league and he is a promising candidate for the most valuable players prize. But even Waner cannot hope to match Ruth.

For one thing a world series is old stuff to the Yankee player, while Waner is participating for the first time. The Pirate may come through in veteran fashion but in the so-called crucial series with the Giants a short time ago he seemed to be overanxious and scarcely enrolled himself as a hero for all time.

The brightest stars of both teams are in right field and scattered around the rest of the diamond's outskirts are lesser but still bright luminaries.

The Yankees have Earl Combs in center and Bob Meusel in left. The Pirates have Lloyd Waner and Clyde Barnhart, respectively, in those positions. Combs and Lloyd Waner are the lead-off men for their club and both get on with surprising facility. Their batting averages are around the .350 mark but the Yankee leads in extra bases. Centerfield sees the clubs about even.

Meusel has the better of Barnhart both in batting and all-around ability. Bob has not been hitting up to his usual form but his arm is still as good as any in the league and he can lope all over the field if the spirit moves him. Admittedly, it is difficult to tell just when a surge of ambition will attack Meusel but when it does he moves and moves fast.

The Pirates' outfield offers the most surprising feature of the 1927 season. Sitting on the Pittsburgh bench has been the task assigned to Hazen Cuyler—a player with a lifetime batting average of .343 and a record of 108 stolen bases in three years.

"Kiki" Cuyler, if he were at his best and could join the lineup with no trace of the bad feeling that has existed between himself and the management, would bring the Pirates' outfield strength virtually on a par with that of the Yankees. The latter club's outfield because of Ruth's possibilities, would always be potentially the stronger but Cuyler and the Waner Brothers would bring tears of thanksgiving to the eye of many a big league manager were he suddenly to find them on his payroll.

KASCH'S HUSKIES TAKE TO FIELD AT STAPLES TODAY

NINETEEN HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS ENTER OPENING BATTLE OF SEASON

MANY LAST YEAR LETTERMEN SEEN IN FIRST SQUAD; TEAM IN MID-SEASON SHAPE

Primed for action by overtime practices at the municipal field, Coach Kasch's huskies departed at noon today for Staples to engage in their first district gridiron battle with the Staples team.

Nineteen players full of confidence, fight and persistence will be in uniform this afternoon. A large Brainerd delegation is expected to be on hand to lend their team assistance in cheering them along.

Coach Kasch this morning announced the following starting line: Guin, left end; LaCourse, left tackle; Greener, left guard; Ellison, center; Hanson, right guard; Kreger, right tackle; Barnes, right end; Buscher, quarter back; Hautala, left half; Swanson, right half; Fuller, full.

The following substitutes will be ready to step into the game at a minute's notice: Viken, Geist, Gooderz, Foster, Anderson, Welliver, A. Hautala, Fox.

HORNSBY PULLING FOR PIRATES TO BEAT YANKEES

New York, Sept. 30.—(UP)—"I am pulling for the Pirates to beat the Yankees in the world series," said Rogers Hornsby, captain of the New York Giants, "but somehow I don't like the Pittsburgh club against a team which will keep everlastingly at seeking."

The same goes for the entire Giant team who are pulling for the National league winner to beat the Yankees but afraid the power of Huggins' team will crush Pittsburgh.

Lafayette, Ind.—Robert Wilson, regular Purdue quarterback, will be out for a week because of illness.

FAST GAME WITH AMERICAN ASSOCIATION TO RING DOWN BASEBALL CURTAIN

LOCAL RECEIPTS WILL GO TOWARDS BENEFIT OF FIELD; LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

Local fans who are anxious to see one more baseball game before the curtain is rung down on the season will turn out in a large body to witness the St. Paul American Association team play the Brainerd All-Stars Monday afternoon at the Municipal field. The game will be played as a benefit for the park and will be called at 4 o'clock.

The following stars will be seen in action with the St. Paul team: Gene Robertson, who holds down third base, a former St. Louis player who played in Brainerd three years ago and who will go back to the majors next spring as a member of the New York Yankees; Durocher and McMillan, considered the fastest double play combination in baseball today.

The Brainerd team will be picked from the following men: Jarbo and Sandgren, pitchers; Hanson, first base; Anderson, Elling, second base; Peterson, ss; Loom, third base; Udenberg, 3rd or short stop; Imgrund, Shello, Nutting, outfield; Norman, Bernard and Fogelstrom, catchers.

BASEBALL'S BIG FIVE

Babe Ruth hit his 58th and 59th and a three-bagger out of five times at bat. Gehrig got a single out of three tries.

Tris Speaker did not go to bat. Rogers Hornsby was idle. Ty Cobb has completed the season.

PIRATES JUST ABOUT GRABBING PENNANT

VICTORY OVER REDS TODAY CINCHES IT

CARDS' CHANCE OF WINNING WITHOUT PLAYOFF WAS LOST YESTERDAY

ST. LOUIS - CINCINNATI GAME WAS "HARD LUCK" CONTEST FOR CARDS

(By United Press)
Victory over the Reds at Cincinnati today will assure the Pittsburgh Pirates of winning the 1927 National League pennant. If they lose, it will mean the Cardinals and Giants still have a chance to tie for the lead in the senior league.

The Cards' chance of winning without a play-off was lost yesterday when the Reds beat them, 3 to 2. If Pittsburgh loses the remaining three games with the Reds and the Cards win their last two with the Cubs, the league standing will be tied at the end of the week.

The Giants can also tie by winning three games if the Pirates lose three. The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	93	58	.616
St. Louis	91	61	.599
New York	90	61	.596

Babe Ruth had a chance today to break his 1921 home run record, which he equalled in the Yankees' game with Washington yesterday by hitting his 58th and 59th homers. New York staged a typical Yankee rampage and beat the Senators 15 to 4.

The other two, hit in the first and fifth innings, cleared into the bleachers.

Lisenbee was pitching when Ruth made his first homer and Hopkins was the victim of the second.

The St. Louis-Cincinnati game was a "hard luck" contest for the Cards from the start. Young Frankhouse pitched well enough for St. Louis to win any ball game, but four of the five hits he allowed had to come in the fourth inning. And in that fatal inning, Frankhouse picked up the wet, slippery ball and threw it into right field when he had an easy out at first base. The four hits and the error went for three runs. St. Louis' eight hits off May could only be made to score two runs.

Eleven hits made by the Braves off Ray Miller, Phillies' recruit, were kept so scattered that only one run resulted. The score was Philadelphia 7, Boston 1.

The Athletics lost to the Red Sox due to the weakness of Guy Cantrell, recruit pitcher, who allowed 14 hits. Jack Bradley, another newcomer, who pitched for Boston, held the runners-up in the American League to six hits.

TOLEDO'S FIRST JUNIOR WORLD'S SERIES UNDER WAY

Toledo, O., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Toledo's first junior world's series, twice postponed because of rain, finally got under way this afternoon.

Despite the downpour of rain for the last two days, the grounds were in perfect condition when the Mudhens, champions of the American association, and the Buffalo Bisons, international league winners, took the field.

ON THE SIDELINES

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Minn.—Bob Tanner and Nagurski are being used at right end and Ukkleberg, Kakela, Madere and Johnson at left tackle—the two weak spots in "Doc" Spears' Minnesota line.

Evanston, Ill.—Appointment of Ralph Baker and Tom Stidham as assistant football coaches was announced by Northwestern University. The university also announced "no scouting" agreements had been reached with Missouri and Utah universities. Practice scrimmage has been prevented by rain.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—An increasing list of casualties has hampered Coach Weiman of Michigan in preparing his team to meet Ohio Wesleyan Saturday. Taylor, Nyland, Gabel, Pommerening, Thisted, Board and Schoenfeld, linemen, have been hurt and the backfield is temporarily without the services of Miller, Steub, Puckelwartz, Hoffman and Greenwald.

Columbus, O.—Robin Bell, Marek and Eby have been punting 65 yards consistently in workouts. Ohio followers are also satisfied the aerial attack will be working satisfactorily when the season opens. Marek, Grimm and Eby have shown mid-season form in passing.

were hit and children attending classes were injured.

For hours many sections of the city were in total darkness. Immediately after the storm, live wires torn from poles lay sputtering in the street, a menace to the thousands of homeless who had escaped with their lives.

Telephone communication was almost entirely stopped and news of the storm was broadcast by radio to sections of the city which had escaped.

Most pitiful scenes were found in the negro section where the flimsy frame houses were crushed like berry boxes by the gale. The toll of killed and injured in this area was especially high. The survivors, many of them exhausted, had to be literally dragged to shelter when they fought to stay in the mass of torn boards and plaster which had been their homes. Promise of food and shelter failed to move them.

But the wing was impartial between rich and poor. Entire sections of brick apartment buildings in the better residential districts were pulled down and the structures unroofed.

Factories and business houses in the southwest section of the city were wrecked and it was here that the greatest financial loss was suffered.

Two policemen were killed when an outlying station house collapsed. Other public buildings beside schools were struck.

One residential street, noted for its stately elms, had the appearance today of a carelessly lumbered forest. The majestic trees had been snapped off and torn apart by the wind.

Several sick and crippled children were injured when a wing of the Shriners' hospital was torn away.

Members of a high school football team helped firemen dig a tunnel through debris to free Frank Schenck who had been caught under three floors and the roof of a building.

Schenck told of a fellow workman

Herman Hood, who had been blown through the window of a building on which they were working.

Seven persons were killed when an outlying furniture store collapsed.

One man was crushed to death by a falling telephone pole. Four persons were hurt when the roof of a St. Louis University high school building caved in. Three children were seriously hurt at Central high school.

At least three persons were killed in Granite City and one in Venice, Ill.

Sportsman's Park, home of both St. Louis baseball clubs, was unroofed.

Mullanphy hospital, a Catholic institution, was in the center of the wind torn area and a section of the building was wrecked, but physicians, nurses and nurses in the hospital coolly went about the work of receiving and treating injured brought in from the neighborhood.

The path of the storm seemed to follow Mill Creek valley, entering the city from the west.

The only disaster of similar proportions which has struck St. Louis was the tornado of 1896 which killed 140 persons and injured hundreds.

CITY AIMS TO RESTORE ORDER

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—A wan sun looked down today on a partly wrecked and disorganized St. Louis fighting desperately to restore order from the chaos that followed yesterday's tornado.

The death list stood at eighty with the prospects that it would increase materially through the day. Many were in critical condition at hospitals and 13 were reported missing.

Three hundred persons were seriously injured, reports from hospitals indicated. Several hundred more suffered minor injuries. The exact number will never be known, as many received treatment without going to hospitals.

The property damage was variously estimated between $10,000,000 and $100,000,000. Charles M. Talbert, vice president of the Standard Underwriters' Agency, estimated it at $50,000,000. His approximation represented the average.

The storm struck St. Louis at 1:05 P. M. yesterday, lasting five minutes. It cut a crazy path through the city. From appearances today a giant might have staggered through the streets crushing where his feet fell and leaving sections between steps unharmed.

First steps to raise funds for relief will be taken today at a meeting of the citizens' committee. Two funds will be solicited, one for immediate relief and the other for rehabilitation.

Mayor Victor Miller issued a proclamation today asking that all immediate financial aid be concentrated on the Red Cross "in the interest of single effectiveness."

"Dollars are the necessary and immediate need," the proclamation said.

The Red Cross has established four relief stations in the stricken areas maintained by 60 trained disaster workers. Using the relief stations as headquarters they are distributing supplies to those left destitute.

Militiamen and American Legion members aided police in patrolling the devastated parts of the city. Police had orders to "shoot on sight" anyone found looting ruined homes but no cases of thieving were reported.

Regular army troops from Jefferson Barracks, located near the city, have been ordered to augment the military forces in response to an appeal by city officials.

The most tragic spot in the storm ridden city today was the morgue temporarily located in the basement of the city hospital. Scores of anxious persons swarmed around the door, each waiting his turn to search the gruesome interior for a missing relative or friend.

Police questioned closely each applicant for admission to bar the morbidly curious and make way for those with a sincere mission.

On a bare granite floor inside lay the dead like so many limp bags. The room usually serving as the morgue was filled to capacity and the overflow lay in the corridors.

Persons filed through slowly and quietly. Most of the searchers hunted in vain. They passed out into the open air to be hurried on their way by a perspiring officer. Occasionally there was a groan or a scream. Someone's search had been successful.

1,000 ARMY TROOPS ORDERED TO ST. LOUIS

Washington, Sept. 30.—One thousand regular army troops from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., were ordered by the war department today to co-operate in the emergency created by the St. Louis tornado.

Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, commanding the sixth corps area, will leave Chicago today to take charge of the regular army activities in St. Louis.

Maj. Gen. Harry A. Smith, commanding the seventh corps area at Omaha, Neb., was ordered by the department to hold himself in readiness to co-operate in every necessary way with Lassiter at St. Louis.

Instructor Convicted of Child Desertion

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 30.—(UP)—Merle Hicks, instructor of athletics and science at the Cambridge, Minn., high school, was convicted on a charge of child desertion before a jury here late yesterday. He will be sentenced Oct. 10.

Mrs. Hicks charged her husband sent her here in June, 1926, when she was about to become a mother and that he had not given her more than $50 for the support of her and their child since that time.

FEDERAL AGENTS IN BIG RAID, FARM NEAR NEWMARKET

St. Paul, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Three men are under arrest today following a raid in which federal agents confiscated two cars, 4,000 gallons of mash, 175 gallons of whiskey and a 600-gallon still. The raid was conducted on a farm near Newmarket, Minn. The men held are Rudolph C. Simmons and Gerald O'Donnell, St. Paul, and Nicholas Thomas, farmer, of Newmarket.

Fire in Refrigerator Hatch of Steamer Quickly Extinguished

Washington, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Fire in the refrigerator hatch of the Dollar line steamer President Hayes, en route to Los Angeles, has been extinguished without casualties, American Consul Eaton reported to the state department today from Manzanillo, Mexico.

After putting into Manzanillo yesterday in distress the vessel is now proceeding to Los Angeles with slight cargo damage as the only loss, according to Eaton.

Light to Test Colors

An electric color-testing instrument is designed for textiles, wall papers, coloring materials, etc., and with a special arc light applies the fading power of the sun for 20 hours. Forty samples may be tested at once, each being partly covered so that the faded color can be directly compared with the originals.

SHE seemed to stay tired—her lightest task too heavy. . . . What was the matter? Why, she used to be full of life and energy! What had stolen her health—had sapped her strength?

Constipation takes awful toll from thousands of men and women. It thives vitality. It wrecks energy. It destroys beauty and health itself, and often leads to serious disease. Yet it can be so easily relieved! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—safely and promptly.

ALL-BRAN vs. part-bran
ALL-BRAN has "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines, gently distending them—purifying, removing poisonous wastes. How different from part-bran products—in which the quantity of bulk is so small that there is seldom enough to be effective. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because it is 100% bran.

Beware of drugs!

Contrast healthful ALL-BRAN with habit-forming pills and drugs, which become useless unless the dose is constantly increased! ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak for a few moments to bring out all its rich flavor. Serve it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package.

Don't risk a part-bran substitute. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants—on dining-cars. Made by the Kellogg Company in Battle Creek, Mich. Write for free "Treatise on Constipation."

Washington, Sept. 30.—(UP)—President Coolidge talked over the telephone with President Calles of Mexico at a ceremony yesterday afternoon opening long distance connections between the capitals of the two nations.

The army band here played the Mexican national anthem so it was heard in Mexico City, and a band there answered with the Star Spangled Banner.

The through telephone service has been arranged by the Mexican Telegraph Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Service will begin today on the line. The charge for a three-minute station-to-station call from Washington will be $12.70 and commensurate rates will be offered from other cities of the United States.

ROBBERY, HOLDUP ADDS TO CRIME WAVE

Smraker's Pool Hall Entered; Four Dollars and 5,000 Cigarettes Stolen

ENTER THROUGH TRANSOM

Dudley Beavers, Taxi Driver Robbed of 25 Cents by Unmasked Bandit

The string of robberies and holdups in Brainerd during the past week boosted two more last night with the robbery of Smraker's pool hall, Laurel street, and the holdup of Dudley Beavers, Yellow Cab driver, on South Sixth street.

The burglars are believed to have entered Smraker's pool hall by way of the transom over the front door. The till was pilfered of $4.00 in change and 5,000 Chesterfield cigarettes stolen. The men made their escape through the front door. Andy Smraker reported to the police this morning that he had locked the doors last night at 11:30 o'clock.

A lone bandit, unmasked, tallying as to height with the description of the gunman who stuck up Garvey's restaurant early Wednesday morning and escaped with $37.46, about 1:15 o'clock this morning held up Dudley Beavers near the Lincoln school. The bandit got only 25 cents. He commanded Beavers "to keep going and don't go back to town." Beavers notified the police of the holdup this morning. He described the man as wearing blue overalls with a sweater jacket and wearing a gray felt hat. Beavers was walking home after work.

CHAMBER TO HOLD FIRST FALL DINNER

Lions Club Will be Invited to Hold Joint Meeting With Chamber of Commerce

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12

Special Speakers Are Expected; Reports to be Received on Summer Activities

Following a busy summer season, members of the Chamber of Commerce will gather for the first fall dinner in the Chamber rooms, Wednesday evening, October 12, at which time the Lions club will be invited to participate.

Discussion of a program for the winter months will be included and reports received on the progress of the committees throughout the summer.

The meeting taking place in the middle of Fire Prevention Week, it is expected that special speakers will be on hand to outline the necessity of keeping Minnesota green and give valuable information on the forestry industry.

NEW PAVEMENT IS NOW OPENED

Trunk highway No. 3, between La Crosse and Winona, has been opened to traffic this week, after being closed nearly a year. Shoulder work on the new pavement from La Crescent to La Moille is not completed and motorists using the new route are urged to drive carefully. The new grade from La Moille to Winona is being gravelled and oiled.

New pavement is also open from Hawley to Moorhead, on No. 2, and from Albany to Freeport, on No. 3, but on both of these stretches also shoulder work is in progress, and caution is urged.

Roads throughout the state generally are good, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today, but local rains have left some stretches not as good as a week ago. Detailed reports follow, insofar as they refer to the Brainerd Lake Region:

T. H. No. 2 — Duluth, Brainerd, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Moorhead—260 miles—Duluth, paved—Carlton, good—Aitkin, good, detour—good—Brainerd, good—Hawley, paved, no shoulders—Moorhead, Oiling and tarring between Motley and Wadena.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca and Brainerd—103 miles—Good.
T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cass Lake—93 miles—Good.

On Wednesday there was heard at the court house the compensation case before Referee Reynolds of Jack Demsey against Hirt and Son and Maryland Casualty Co. regarding injuries received by Mr. Demsey at the Elks building construction in August, 1926.

The firm of Swanson, Swanson, and Swanson, were attorneys for Demsey while Attorney French represented the insurance company and Hirt and Son.

HIGHWAY NO. 2 WORK IS TO COST $33,900

Seven Miles Tarvia Laid, Seven Miles Oiled Between Motley and Wadena

TEN MILES REMAIN

Weather Permitting Work Will be Completed by October 10

Completion of the revamping of Highway No. 2 from Motley to Wadena with 17 miles of tarvia and seven miles of oil is expected by October 10 depending on weather conditions. A. W. Moulster, state highway engineer of this district announced this morning.

Seven miles of tarvia have been laid from Motley to Staples while the seven miles of oil from Wadena east have been completed. Ten miles of tarvia remain to be completed. The work will cost the state approximately $15,000 a mile for the laying of the tarvia and approximately $1,200 a mile for the oiling, according to Mr. Moulster.

Four distributors and six patrol outfits and 15 men are being employed on the job.

Work has started on the oiling of Highway No. 37 from Motley for a distance of five miles south. The work will be completed within a week.

NORTHEAST TIGERS MEET

Boys Athletic Club at Y. M. C. A. Reveals Increased Interest in Organization

The Northeast Tigers, boys athletic club met at the Y. M. C. A. last evening with an increased membership, there being fourteen in attendance. Meetings will be held at the Y. each week from now on.

Lyle Mayo, president, reported that the Tigers football team would play the Ninth Street team Saturday morning. Action was taken to have complete basketball outfits to start an early season.

The club decided to have a gallon of ice cream for next week's meeting. After adjournment, the club was given the use of the gym for the rest of the evening.

Affiliation of this club with the Y. is the beginning of a program in which the Y. is going to be available to all boys groups of the city who become organized. Business men, who have taken an interest in the Y. this autumn, have suggested the plan of a program of city wide extent.

ROBBERY, HOLDUP ADDS TO CRIME WAVE

Smraker's Pool Hall Entered; Four Dollars and 5,000 Cigarettes Stolen

ENTER THROUGH TRANSOM

Dudley Beavers, Taxi Driver Robbed of 25 Cents by Unmasked Bandit

The string of robberies and hold-ups in Brainerd during the past week boosted two more last night with the robbery of Smraker's pool hall, Laurel street, and the holdup of Dudley Beavers, Yellow Cab driver, on South Sixth street.

The burglars are believed to have entered Smraker's pool hall by way of the transom over the front door. The till was pilfered of $4.00 in change and 5,000 Chesterfield cigarettes stolen. The men made their escape through the front door. Andy Smraker reported to the police this morning that he had locked the doors last night at 11:30 o'clock.

A lone bandit, unmasked, tallying as to height with the description of the gunman who stuck up Garver's restaurant early Wednesday morning and escaped with $37.46, about 1:15 o'clock this morning held up Dudley Beavers near the Lincoln school. The bandit got only 25 cents. He commanded Beavers "to keep going and don't go back to town." Beavers notified the police of the holdup this morning. He described the man as wearing blue overalls with a sweater jacket and wearing a gray felt hat. Beavers was walking home after work.

The meeting taking place in the middle of Fire Prevention Week, it is expected that special speakers will be on hand to outline the necessity of keeping Minnesota green and give valuable information on the forestry industry.

NEW PAVEMENT IS NOW OPENED

Trunk highway No. 3, between La Crosse and Winona, has been opened to traffic this week, after being closed nearly a year. Shoulder work on the new pavement from La Crescent to La Moille is not completed and motorists using the new route are urged to drive carefully. The new grade from La Moille to Winona is being graded and oiled.

New pavement is also open from Hawley to Moorhead, on No. 2, and from Albany to Freeport, on No. 3, but on both of these stretches also shoulder work is in progress, and caution is urged.

Roads throughout the state generally are good, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today, but local rains have left some stretches not as good as a week ago. Detailed reports follow, insofar as they refer to the Brainerd Lake Region:

100 HUNGRY CHORUS GIRLS AWAIT REYNOLDS

SCION OF WEALTHY FAMILY HEIR TO TOBACCO FORTUNE.

BACKED SHOW
New York, Sept. 30.—(UP)—One hundred hungry chorus girls today anxiously awaited the return to New York of Richard J. Reynolds, 21-year-old heir to a fifth of the $50,000,000 Reynolds tobacco fortune.

Reynolds disappeared Sept. 16, and was found Tuesday night in a chop suey restaurant at St. Louis, under the name of Joy K. Fleet.

The chorus girls were in the cast of the musical show "Half a Widow," which Reynolds was alleged to have backed for four weeks. The show foundered at the Waldorf Theatre here after a week's run.

After $110,000 had been spent on the show, Conrad S. Layson of the Wally Gluck productions said the play had to close with salaries and bills due aggregating $13,500. The ten principals as well as the chorus girls were unpaid.

"We don't know whether Mr. Reynolds will sponsor a revival of the show," said Layson, "but several of the needy chorus girls could use the week's salary due and there are the musicians and others on the payroll."

Carter Tiffany, vice-president of the Reynolds Airways, Inc., of which Reynolds is president, said he was awaiting the youth's return to discuss the future of the aeronautical concern, in which Reynolds has invested close to $750,000 since he attained his majority last April.

ELECTROCUTED AS TWO TOOK SHOWER BATHS

Johnsonburg, Pa., Sept. 30.—(UP)—While taking a shower bath last night after football practice, two members of the Johnsonburg high school team were electrocuted.

Neven Wallis and John Zilcoski had gone into the shower, which is lined with tin. The tin short circuited light wires, and when the stream of water struck the boys, they were killed.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION
No. 3091
State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss., In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Charles Knech, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota, to All Whom It May Concern:

Whereas, Emma Burk has filed in this Court her petition stating, among other things, that she is one of the next of kin of the above named decedent, that said decedent died intestate, a resident of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, left property in the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, and was a citizen of the United States; and praying that administration of his estate be granted to B. L. Lagerquist.

Therefore, You are hereby cited to be and appear before said Court on the 24th day of October, 1927, at ten o'clock A. M. in the Court House in the City of Brainerd, in said County and State, and show cause, if any you have, why said petition should not be granted.

Dated September 30, 1927.

(Probate Court Seal) L. B. KENDER, Probate Judge.

100 HUNGRY CHORUS GIRLS AWAIT REYNOLDS

SCION OF WEALTHY FAMILY, HEIR TO TOBACCO FORTUNE, BACKED SHOW

New York, Sept. 30.—(UP)—One hundred hungry chorus girls today anxiously awaited the return to New York of Richard J. Reynolds, 21-year-old heir to a fifth of the $50,000,000 Reynolds tobacco fortune.

Reynolds disappeared Sept. 16, and was found Tuesday night in a chop suey restaurant at St. Louis, under the name of Joy K. Fleet.

The chorus girls were in the cast of the musical show "Half a Widow" which Reynolds was alleged to have backed for four weeks. The show floundered at the Waldorf Theatre here after a week's run.

After $110,000 had been spent on the show, Conrad S. Layson, of the Wally Gluck productions, said the play had to close with salaries and bills due aggregating $13,500. The ten principals as well as the chorus girls were unpaid.

"We don't know whether Mr. Reynolds will sponsor a revival of the show," said Layson, "but several of the needy chorus girls could use the week's salary due and there are the musicians and others on the payroll."

Carter Tiffany, vice-president of the Reynolds Airways, Inc., of which Reynolds is president, said he was awaiting the youth's return to discuss the future of the aeronautical concern, in which Reynolds has invested close to $750,000 since he attained his majority last April.

ELECTROCUTED

AS TWO TOOK

SHOWER BATHS

Johnsonburg, Pa., Sept. 30.—(UP)—While taking a shower bath last night after football practice, two members of the Johnsonburg high school team were electrocuted.

Neven Wallis and John Zilcoski had gone into the shower, which is lined with tin. The tin short-circuited light wires, and when the stream of water struck the boys, they were killed.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION

No. 3091

State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss: In Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Charles Krekel, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota, to All Whom it May Concern:

Whereas, Emma Burk has filed in this Court her petition stating, among other things, that she is one of the next of kin of the above named decedent; that said decedent died intestate, a resident of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, left property in the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, and was a citizen of the United States; and praying that administration of his estate be granted to B. L. Lagerquist.

Therefore, You are hereby cited to be and appear before said Court on the 24th day of October, 1927, at ten o'clock A. M. in the Court House in the City of Brainerd, in said County and State, and show cause, if any you have, why said petition should not be granted.

Dated September 30, 1927.

(Probate Court Seal) L. B. KINDER, Probate Judge.

MAI CLARK, Attorney for Petitioner. 10113f
